

UPDATED: Sunvention's Solar Power Villages proposal has made it to the semi-finalists .

I'm proud that Sunvention has made it into the list of contenders for this year's Buckminster Fuller Challenge. This challenge, based on the concepts of Bucky Fuller, is looking for out-of-the box and practical solutions to today's practical problems.

Some extracts and images from a much longer entry (that I co-authored) have been posted by the Buckminster Fuller Institute online on challenge.bfi.org

It would of course be great to get comments on the site.